ABOUT ME

Hello! My name is Tara Russell, and I have been appointed as Deputy Head Girl in St. Patrick's College. I am currently studying Art, English Literature, and Professional Business Services for A-Level. In the future, I am hoping to pursue a career in the creative field, possibly in Architecture, Fine Art, or Illustration at Queen's or Ulster University. In my role as Deputy Head Girl, I am eager to serve as a positive and supportive role model for all pupils, by helping them navigate through their educational journey in St Patrick's. I am also motivated to advocate for student interests, by working collaboratively with the Student Leadership Team to positively enhance the overall student experience.
